What Thompson & Duny Propose To Do This Fall—David Belasco Home
From London—News Items of GenPropose Gleaned Alena The Interest Gleaned Along The Rialto.

AVID Belasco, the high priest of the theatrical "Nonconformists," arrived from a brief visit to London on Wednesday morning, He immediately entered into a conference with the Shuberts and Harrison Grey Fiske, and it is reason berts and Harrison Grey Fiske, and it is reasonable to presume that some interesting developments in the general situation, theatrically, may soon be forthconing. That the Belasco-Fiske-Shubert "community of interests," as it has been officially entitled by one of the leading spirits in the move, comprises a formidable al-liance cannot be questioned. That there is brains, originality and cannot be reaching for recognity for results for originality and capacity for producing results no one can deny. And, best of all, it would seem that the theatrical fraternity at large and the showgoing public in general will vastly benefit by the new alliance. Hence, why not wish them success in their altgether commendable purpose?

The Leapfrog Railroad, at Dreamand, which was put in operation for the en-joyment of the Fourth of July crush at Coney Island, is an oddity in transportation and pro-vides a new sensation. Two cars start simul-taneously from opposite points on a railroad track, and when the cars reach the center of the track they do not collide and throw the pas-sengers out, but instead one car rides over the sengers out, but instead one car rides over other. The ascent is like riding on the crest of a wave, while the descent is not unlike dropping into the trough of the sea in rough

In the cast of The Heir to The Hoorah, at the Hudson, on last Monday night, three changes took place. Jane Payton succeeded Beverly Sitgraves as Kate Brandon, Louise Rutter took the place of Norah Lamson, as Madge Casey, and Ernest Lamson assumed the role of Dave Lacy in place of John W. Cope.

Tommy Burnette has signed with W. Nankeville to join Haverly's Minstrels, the ason opening at the Lyric Theatre, Hoboken.

Punch Wheeler sends me some un-mistakable evidences of his usefulness as press representative with the Floto Shows, now touring the middle west.

The first of the Savage attractions to take to the road will be The College Widow, which begins its season at Chicago on July 31. The company which played the long engagement at the Garden Theatre last year will be taken to the western city.

Rose Coghlan's special engagement at Rose Coghlan's special engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre will terminate with presentations of London Assurance, this week. Fourth of July week was made memorable by her return to the legitimate, as Stephanie, in Forget-Me-Not. Beginning July 17 Chrystal and Julie Herne, daughters of the late and truly lamented James A. Herne, will play Richter's Wife for one week. Then Robert T. Haines will be the stock star in Once Upon a Time. With the opening of the regular season Manager Proctor will change the policy of the Fifth Avenue by the introduction of a superior stock company, playing six nights and two matinees a week.

Frederic W. Thompson, of the firm of Thompson & Dundy, managing directors of the Hippodrome and owners of Luna Park, returned from a seven weeks' tour abroad on the Fourth of July, bringing news of contracts with all kinds of performers for the winter season at the Hippodrome, and with the definite announcement of the establishment of a Hippodrome in Chicago. The latter information sets at rest the gossip which has centered in the disposition of A Yankee Circus on Mars and The Raiders. These two big productions will be loaded on twenty-five seventy foot cars on No-of the new dance he waxed eloquent. M. Al-fredo Edel, the famous Paris and Milan de fredo Edel, the famous Paris and Milan designer, has the costuming of the ballet, and of the rest of the performance in charge. He was Mr. Thompson's companion during much of the trip. The Raiders will be followed by The Days of '40, which will depict that stirring period of American history. One scene will show a mining town with all its characteristic detail. Indians from the western reservations will participate in a battle in which the water stage of the Hippodrome will be employed.

Mr. Thompson spent most of his visit Mr. Thompson spent most of his visit abroad in an automobile. He toured England, Germany, France and Austria, and few big or little cities or shows escaped his attention. A short stay in Carisbad, ostensibly for health and quiet, gave him opportunity to perfect the plans for the new Hippodrome production. He has preyed upon dozens of European enterprises for performers of renown, and in his absence his agents have been ransacking this country for arenic stars. He places much faith upon the reception which the Patty Franks will receive in this country. They are the most famous acrobatic troupe of all Europe, and Mr. Thompson secured their signatures to contracts only son secured their signatures to contracts only a sensation in France for months. Mile. Claire Hetiot will come from Berlin. Sixteen lions will be her escort, and the exhibition which she gives with the "kings of the forest" surpasses in skill and daring, it is declared, anything ever skill and daring, it is declared, anything ever produced here. Teresa Renz, granddaughter of Ernest Renz, who founded the German circuses which bear his name, will be seen at the same time. She is described as the greatest horse-woman of all Europe. Mile. Marquis will bring her eight trained cobs from Paris, where she is ner eight trained coos from Faris, where size is now a reigning sensation. The Bonhair-Gregory Troupe, who perform a "risley" act, such as America has never been privileged to witness, were persuaded to come to the Hippodrome. Their exhibition is named after its originator, Richard Risley, and consists of balancing human weights on the feet.

Mr. Thompson is enthusiastically sanguine over the plans he has completed for the second Hippodrome production. He is convinced that it will completely overshadow the success of the first performance of the big playhouse. Many of his European performers will arrive to take their places in the production of A Yankee Circus on Mars before its removal. Luna Park, he said, would receive from Europe the most sensational summer novelty ever exhibited in this country before the season was the most sensational summer novel hibited in this country before the

James S. Hutton has turned up at Coney Island as chief publicity promoter for New York to The North Pole. This occupa-tion will keep him employed during the sum-mer, but he is already casting longing eyes upon mer, but he is already casting longing eyes upon an engagement in Chicago when the regular season opens. I learn that he is in negotiation for the management of Hyde & Behmann's Theatre, which is slowly struggling out from under its baneful memories as the Ill-fated Iroquois. And who, better than genial Jim Hutton, could be chosen to restere that house to the confidence of Chicagoans? His many years spent there as manager of theatres, his wide acquaintance with Chicago's theatregoing public, and his years of comradship with Chicago's newspaper men would seem to especially fit him for an arduous task. Genial Jim is equal to the emergency, and I hope he gets the chance to the emergency, and I hope he gets the chance to prove his metal. Thompson, Marc Klaw and David Belasco is attended with interesting announcements as to the future of much of New York's amusements. After spending seven weeks in London, Paris, Berlin Vienna and Carlsbad, Mr. Thompson arrived on board the Kaiser Wilhelm II., going direct to Luna Park. The inland trip being primarily for the purpose of securing novelties, the traveling was done in an automobile. While at Carlsbad Mr. Thompson wrote and designed the new show which is to go on at the Hippodrome this fall, when the show recently closed is to be transferred to the new hippodrome to be erected in Chicago. In place of the spectacle called The Raiders, the new show in the New York house will have a spectacle entitled The Days of '49, one scene of which will show a mining camp in the early days. A number of genuine Indians will participate. A new ballet, entitled The Song of The Flowers, promises to excel everything yet attempted. Among the number of new acts booked by Mr. Thompson for the Hippodrome were Mile. Claire Hetiot, a beautiful lion tamer, whose sixteen lions do something entirely new. A number of new acts were also secured for Luna Park, but regarding them Mr. Thompson was reticent. Orders were given for the commencement of work

BESSIE McCOY.

As Aurora, the charlot driver and the star in A Yankee Olrcus on Mars, Miss Bessie McCcy, whose excellent likeness beautifies the front page of this issue of The Billboard, bounded into the publicity of world-wide favor. Her selection for the stellar role in the New York Hippodrome was in itself a signal honor, because from the small army of the fairest and most charming lassies in the profession Miss McCoy was selected by Messrs. Thompson & Dundy as the most available. The wisdom of the selection has met with universal approval. Miss McCoy's conception of the role of the winsome, rollicking maid of the tented arena was a most vivid copy in spirit, action and atmosphere of the familiar natural type. She lent to the part a beauty of face and figure and endowed it with a grace of pose and movement which charmed and delighted.

Miss McCoy's father and mother were well known in the profession, and her far-off ancesters won distinction behind the footlights. Only until recently Miss Bessie appeared with her sister, Nellie, who is now a member of The Earl and The Girl Co. They executed a fancy step which their parents had taught them in one of Charles McCarthy's One of The Bravest. Veterans prophessed for them the success which has attended them ever since. A year later found the children at Governatur's Theatre, Atlantic City. Periods in The Wild Duck and in vaudeville were followed by a trip to Europe, where the stern English law decided that they were too young to display their talents in public. A year in school followed, and the next season found them on the road in A Stranger in New York. Then followed as asson in Australia. Their big hit was saved for the following year, 1901, when the McCoy Sisters made their New York debut. Heralded as remarkable dancers, they were a revelation. Weber & Fields took them up to their Broadway house, and they have since won laurels in Mile. Napoleon and The Medal and The Maid. Last season Fritzi Scheff liured Bessie from her sister, and her premier single appearance proved equa dividual expectations.

Miss McCoy sport several months last sumer traveling in company with a noted rein woman with one of our largest circuses in ord to more properly fit herself for the requirement of Aurora. That she has succeeded admirable well in the role is the opinions of every one the many thousands of patrons who have bedelighted with the great New York enterprise

The Story of The Motion Picture-A Visit to The Selig Polyscope Company.

HICAGO is the radiating center of the motion picture business in the United States. With the exception of the telephone and phonograph no invention of the past century has become as popular with the public as motion pictures. There is not a bamilet or collection of a dozen business anywhere in the civilized world that here houses anywhere in the civilized world that has not had a moving picture show within the past five years, and certainly not a theatre in the world that has not at some time either shown the pictures or furnished the talent for new

Yet with all this popularity-and moving are growing in favor everywhere—the idea as to their origin, their manuand even their projection is very deed. Probably not one person out of s hundred can explain why it is impossible to hundred can explain why it is impossible to take an ordinary photograph, copy it and make a motion film. A few realize that a motion film can only be made from actual mo-tion, but they can not tell why. The general impression is that "it is some kind of machine invented by Edison," and that is the extent invented by Edison," and that is the extent of their knowledge.

As a matter of fact, Edison did not invent motion pictures. After others had put machines on the market he also appeared with the old vitascope in 1895, the same year, but some months later than the cinematographs of Lumiere of Paris. Jenkins, it appears from records, invented the phantoscope some time previous and exhibited it at the International Exhibition at Atlanta and the Franklin Institute. But this is comparatively recent history.

But this is comparatively recent history. Undoubtedly the original moving picture was a circular card with a bird painted on one side and a cage on the other. When the card is revolved the bird appears to have flown into revolved the bird appears to have flown into the cage. Then came the nectrope, with the revolving cylinder and view of pictures through narrow slits. Then after centuries, probably, came Pleateau of Ghent, and Stamphes of Vienna, the former calling his machine a phenakestoscope, and the latter a stroboscope. These machines appeared in 1832 and were, of course, VETY Crube and complexity but they carried. wery crude and cumbersome, but they actually made intermittent motion pictures on a single or multiple plate and covered the fundamental principles of motion photography as it is today.

Other machines appeared from time to time until about 1875 Marcy and Janssen invented a photographic gun, in which a circular plate was photographic gun, in which a circular plate was photographic gun, in which a circular plate was moved by clockwork and a series of pictures taken along the outer edge. These were after-ward printed and exhibited in a zoetrope. The invention of celluloid marked the first real step toward the present day perfection. Edison's machine at first was simply a box containing a strip of film for individual observa-tion. It was not a projecting machine. The cinematograph and vitascope, and Jenkins' ma-chines were really the first practical projectors, although others antedating them were, in a mea sure, successful, but not in public. The vita sure, successful, but not in public. The vira-scope was a heavy, clumsy machine that carried fifty feet of film and required a motor to operate it. The chematograph was a small, portable machine that not only projected the view, but it was likewise adapted to camera work and printing as well. It was the first practicel, ortable moving machine on the market, mber of the original models are still omplete portable m en came a flood of patents and new ma-es. The public took to the new invention interest has steadily increased. Nothing can broaden the mind, educate the observer, or give the truthful details with the facility and accuracy of a motion picture. And yet no modern invention has given the facilities and oppor-tunities for deception and mystery—as is shown tunifies for deception and mystery—as is shown by the splendid mystery pictures of today—when the eye apparently sees the absolutely im-possible. But, fortunately, the public readily understands the deception and looks upon it as strictly a creation for amusement, and not as a fact. The truthful pictures, on the other hand, are likewise appreciated, and they are accepted literally, with a highly educational result.

down just that much and stopped. Then a shutter opens the lens and a brief exp made just the same as in an ordinary camera.

Then the shutter is closed and another strip of three-quarters of an inch pulled down. The lens is opened and the operation repeated. Usually about twenty pictures are made to the second. about twenty pictures are made to the second, although for some subjects as low as twelve will answer. The average of sixteen is a good one on which to base calculations. The film is moved by means of suitable clutches engaging perforation on the edge of the strip of celluloid. The standard perforation allows four small below. The standard perforation allows four small below to the plant of the plant has been obtained.

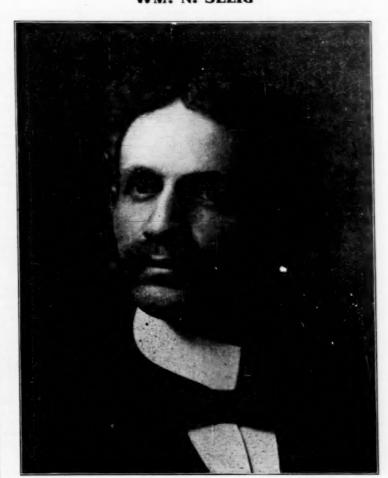

To understand how these creations of fact and fun are built, we visited the extensive plant of the Selig Polyscope Co., 43 Peck Court, Chicago. Here Mr. William N. Selig, one of the pioneers in motion photography, and the inventor and patentee of the famous polyscope, not only gets up the chase pictures, but builds the camera.

gets up the chase pictures, but builds the camera with which they are made, the polyscope with which they are shown and the films themselves. The first step in making a picture is to get the plot or story. This is written out at great length, and sometimes, to assist in drilling the length, and sometimes, actors, a scrap of dial gue is used. When the actors, a scrap of dial gue is used. When the plot is finished and accepted it is turned over to the actors and actresses, who will produce it, and weeks are spent in rehearsals. Then suit-able scenery is selected. Sometimes a trip to Colorado is necessary to get the background of lofty peaks, the Garden of the Gods, and such standard was set by the employes of the Edison is ready, Mr. Thomas S. Nash, foreman of the standard was set by the employes of the Edison laboratory. Lumiere, of Paris, uses only one round hole on each side, and other inventors have tried to change the perforations to odd shapes and sizes, but the Edison standard has been almost universally adopted.

After the film has been exposed it is developed and dried. Then a strip of similar film, but coated with a very slow and clear emulsion, is placed in contact with the original negative and expsed momentarily to white light. This and expsed momentarily to white light. This is then developed, and it is the positive film, or the one used in the projecting machines for exhibition purp

A few years ago there were at least a hundred different machines on the market. The Edison people brought suit against all makers and lost in the higher courts. Then the manufacturers of machines and films narrowed down facturers of machines and films narrowed down to about half a dozen factories, and so rapid were the strides in improvements that it would seem almost hopeless for a new one to open. The minds of the inventors were turned not only toward steadler and clearer pictures, but to entrancing subjects as well. And so successfully did they plan that the public has grown to expect each week a wonderful creation that takes months to prepare—and the public Selig institution, is prepared to make the ne Seng institution, is prepared to make the nega-tives. As a general thing Mr. Selig himself personally attends to the direction, and Mr. Nash operates the camera. A spool of sensitive film is loaded into the machine, which is set up and focussed. The action begins and the first and rocused. The action begins and the first section is made. Then other sections, until possibly 2,000 feet of negative has been exposed. This is taken to the dark rooms of the polyscope factory and wound on immense black drums, which slowly turn though developing solution. Here is where infinite skill is required. The film is very sensitive, and not even the deepest ruby light is permitted near the drums, except to momentarily examine the progress of de-velopment. This completed, the film is quickly round on another drum, running in clean water Twice this is repeated, and then comes the fixing understands the deception and looks upon it oabout half a dozen factories, and so rapid were the strides in improvements that it would seem almost hopeless for a new one accepted literally, with a highly educational result.

The making of a motion picture is not a very difficult matter to understand in theory. In practice certain technical difficulties appear that increase the work and worry. The whole theory is the making of a vast number of successive views at great rapidity. To do this the narrow strip of film is pulled down a channel behind a sultable lens. As each picture is three-quarters of an inch in height, the strip is pulled. bath, after which light may strike the film

The making of a mystery picture is done in the same manner, and the changes and impossible motions, caused by the stopping of the machine while certain changes are made, and then the machine is started with the accessories and figures in the same position they were in before the stop, and the eye cannot detect the break in the continuity of the picture.

The machine for exhibiting the picture has much to do with the pleasure the audience gets from the show. If the picture is unsteady and full of flicker the people will go away rul and this of nicker the people will go away rub-bing their eyes and thoroughly dissatisfied. If the picture is smooth and sharp and steady there will be none of the unpleasant effects. As the screen is dark part of the time between each of the twenty pictures shown each second, the period of darkness has a strong influence on the flicker, and it was to shorten this period that Mr. Selig applied himself very early in the work. He found that the star-wheel motion in use on some machines was totally unreliable on account of its rapid wear, as well as its slowness of motion and liability to run the film off and perforate it on the sh teeth, Mr. Selig. of and perforate it on the sin teeth, Mr. Seng, therefore, adopted the pin motion, so successfully demonstrated abroad, and by making numerous improvements produced a machine absolutely steady and free from flicker, striking a happy steady and free from meker, striking a sappy medium between the very fast, intermittent motion, and the lower one which makes the pictures seem as steady as stereoption slides. So successful has the pin motion become that all film makers now use it in their cameras, but ocasionally use the starwheel in order to cheapen and simplify membrature. It was be menand simplyfy manufacture. It may be men and simply manufacture. It may be means intended here that the star-wheel is by no means an invention of Edison's, but was used for many years as a stop on the winding barrels of Geneva watches and music boxes.

To more fully understand the theory of Intermittent motion and its speed, Mr. Selig intermittent motion and its speed, Mr. Selig gave us the following technical explanation: "When we see an object its image is formed in the depth of our eye and is momentarily photo-graphed on the nervous membrane, which is called the retina. If the object be suddenly emoved or darkened, its mage fades from our vision gradually, and the optic nerve being still affected, our eye persists in seeing the object as if it had neither been removed or darkened. The duration of this impression varies according to the intensity of the light object: under ordinary circumstances it is about object; under ordinary circumstances it is about two-fifty-fourths of a second; in such a manner that the visibility of an object, which has sud-denly been darkened, is prolonged of two-fifty-fourths of a second. The result is that if a lighted object is placed before our eye, and is ddenly hidden or removed during only one suddenly hidden or removed uning only officers, and its image will remain in our eye during one-fifty-fourth of a second, and we cannot perceive its momentary disappearance. Supposing that the successive positions of an object in motion be photographed tions of an object in motion be photographed upon a strip of film at intervals of one-eighteenth (three-fifty-thirds) of a second. The different photographs obtained are alike, that is to say, that if we place one of them upon the other, the parts which represent fixed objects are got the parts which represent fixed objects are got again exactly, while those corresponding with the object in motion occupy positions, the flight of which measures in some way the removal accomplished between the instants when the two photographs were taken.

Then project upon a screen with a lantern picture No. 1, then upon a screen with a lantern picture No. 1, then hide it by interposing on the luminous group a shutter which will hide the light for only one-fifty-fourth of a second, and, as stated above, the eye will go on seeing the image projected, the eye will go on seeing the mage projected, not only during the time of the passing of the shutter, but still after it has passed, for an equal time to the difference between two-fifty-fourths of a second (the duration of the persistence) and one-fifty-fourth of a second (the duration of the passing of the shutter) say one-fifty-fourth of a second. Then supposing that duration of the passing of the suctiery may obe-fifty-fourth of a second. Then, supposing that during the time of the passing of the shutter we substitute picture No. 2 in place of No. 1, when the shutter opens the luminous group again, we will still continue to retain for one-fifty-fourth of a second the impression of image No. 1, upon which the image No. 2 is strongly super sed, and as the motionless objects exactly imposed, and as the motioniess objects exactly coincide, our eye will perceive only the slightly changed attitude of the moving object in picture No. 2 succeeding to picture No. 1. In the same manner we substitute picture after picture, until we get to No. 1.000, and the eye will have before it during these substitutions the object in motion during its various attitudes from 1 to

Besides this artists have been pouring into London from every side for a month now, so with fewer halls running. for a month now, so with fewer halls running, and more artists in town, we are not surprised to find a large number, in fact the majority, of them "resting."

The only variety opening of the week was Horace Goldin at the Collseum. And, although this gentleman is much in favor with the royal family (and, therefore, the local press), it is so recently that we made big mention of him at the Palace that we will refrain on this occasion.

While Miss Lil Lonsdale was singing a cry of "Fire, fire," went up from one of the galleries. Instantly the audience was on its feet, and a wild rush was made for the exits. The manager and several of the male artists ran to the stage, but the stampede could not be stopped. Several women fainted in the excitement, but were got safely outside. Luckily, the exits were so ample as rainted in the excitement, but were got safely outside. Luckilly, the exits were so ample as to enable everyone to pass quickly outside. Investigation made it clear that the alarm was entirely groundless, and confidence was so far restored that most of those who had left the building returned to their seats, and the performance proceeded to its end.

There are but few events in theatri-There are but few events in theatri-cals to record this week. Madame Bernhardt produced Victor Hugo's Angelo, Tyrant of Pa-dua, at the Coronet on Monday. To Londoners it was a great surprise when they heard at the beginning of the year that this somewhat out-worn formula had been revived. Angelo belongs to the period early in the 19th century (1830 onwards), when Victor Hugo was showing most decidedly his romantic tendencies, and showing decidedly his romantic tendencies, and showing them in a very exaggerated form. After his verse romances, Hernani and Le Roi s'amuse, Hugo produced three dramas in the humbler garb of prose—Lucretia Borgia, Marie Tudor and Angelo. They are not pieces which add very much to Hugo's fame, despite the generous adulation they have received from the pen of Algernon Charles Swinburne. With history they have little or nothing to do. Probably no more daring violation of historical facts was ever seen on the boards than Hugo's version of Marie Tudor. Angelo is no better than its dramatic brethren; in some respects it is even worse. The stormy Castle of Otranto vehemence of Victor Hugo requires a setting of decidedly his romantic tendencies, and she worse. The stormy Castle of Otranto vehe-mence of Victor Hugo requires a setting of lyric melody to make it even palatable for the present generation. What is found in the es-sentially prosaic Angelo is an accumulation of all the old stale devices which can be con-nected with melodrama. Everything is there— polson, awards, secret corridors, parcettes, the mysterious key, "the cross of my mother," and all the rest of the outworn and faded rubbish. Here are to be found the conventional charac-ters—the feroclous tyrant, the prescribed young ters—the ferocious tyrant, the prescribed young hero, the traitor and villain, the triumphant comedy actress, who is so superior to all the grand ladies and gentlemen. The ear grows weary with listening to the old crusted phrases: "Do you know what it is to be a mother?" "You have only one hour to decide." "This woman must die." "What am I, Madame? I am a comedienne." "She called me a spy, vengeance, vengeance." "The Council of Ten? Ah! Speak low, speak low."

The astonishing thing is that Madame Sarah Bernhardt could breathe anything approaching life into these dry bones. There was no gaiety, no real joy of living in the whole drama from no real joy of living in the whole drama from no real joy of hiving in the whole drama from beginning to end, and without such a sense of vitality, without some touch of good, honest, melodramatic bonhomic, it is very difficult for any actor or actress to do himself or herself justice. And yet, Madame Sarah Bernhardt, in the character of LaTisbe, made a profound the character of LaTisbe, made a profound impression, especially in the earlier parts of

JEANNETTE HELLER

Miss Jeanette Heller is the leading prima donna with the Castle Square Stock Co., under the management of Mr. E. Lawrence McCarthy. She is the possessor of a high and powerful soprano, well cultivated. Her graceful presence and modest display of accomplishments have gained for her a distinction in the world of muste. Miss Heller's work is marked with careful and conscientious study. She seeks no greater reward than the knowledge that her work is appreciated. Although she has been on the operatic stage but a few seasons, she is enjoying a very successful career. Last seasom Miss Heller sang one of the leading roles of Henry W. Savage's Parsifal. Though she has had many offers for tours abroad Miss Heller will remain under Mr Savage's management next season.

The Grand Opera season drags on. Since the performance of the Ring, the daily press has been full of letters complaining of the talking in the better class seats. Punch makes the following suggestion as a way out of the difficulty, which would be equally agreeable to those who go to the opera to talk, and those who go to listen who go to listen.

"Why not lower the floor space of one half of thick, but transparent, glass? Possibly those of the largest dimensions might be supplied with the largest dimensions might be supplied with billiard tables or platforms or such like facilities for amateur theatricals or charity bazaars, etc., so as to not waste the valuable time of society while the tedious professionals were singing or walking through their business on the boards. There is vast opportunity for improvement in the foyer—which should be converted into a real skating ring or a ballroom at least. This would be a godsend to the more gregarious and active patrons and patronesses of the dress circle. In fact, if these desirable alterations are effected, we doubt if there will be a necessity to mount any plays at all in the a necessity to mount any plays at all in the more up-to-date houses for the mere first-nighter and gallery boy. The adhesive qualities of the vernacular is demonstrated very vividly by the following incident. A clergyman had invited a theatrical manager to come out and hear him preach. The manager accepted the invitation and after the long discourse ventured his appreciation by remarking: "You had 'em with you from your first entrance (very enthusiastically). I liked your sermon. It had some corking good lines in it, and you ate 'em up."

Notes from the Oscar F. Cook Stock Co.: We opened our season at Sandusky, Ohio, and have been playing to good business. This is one of the largest canvas shows on the road, carrying forty people and a full brass band. We have all new plays and strong vaudeville features. It takes two cars to transport the show, and Mr. Cook travels in his own private car. The roster is as follows: Oscar F. Cook, owner; Carl W. Cook, business manager; Louie Ramsdell, stage director; Guy Bennett, carpenter; Spencer Miner, properties and J. S. Sballeross, advance man.

That Damon and Pythias quality of friendship which erstwhile marked the relations between Guy Bates Post, who made a hit in the Heir to The Hoorah, and Dustin Farnum, the star of The Virginian, has been strained to the breaking point by recent events. It all came about through an automobile ride. Mr. Farnum, who returned from a long trip to the coast with The Virginian Co., promptly invested bis season's saving in a new automobile, in the purchase of which he was guided by the experienced advice of Mr. Post. Dusty's summer home is at Buckport, Me., and he made up his mind to drive the motor car up there, instead of sending it up by boat. Incidentally, he thought he would save money by conveying about a ton of camp equipment in the tonneau of the car. As a shining mark of appreciation and friendly feeling he invited Mr. Post to travel with him as far as New Haven. And so, in due process of events, the overloaded motor car, bearing the two actor chauseurs, set out in the gray dawn of Sunday morning, headed for the land of codish and ple. When Mr. Post returned, to all appearances, the young leading man might have been a first-class stoker, or coal-passer, who had just escaped from the purgatory of some steemship's fire room. At the Lambs Club Mr. Post graphically and bitterly set forth his grievances against his erstwhle friend and associate, Mr. Farnum.

"He ande work like a navy," declared.

cany and ditterly set forth his grievances against his erstwhie friend and associate, Mr. Farnum.

"He made me work like a navvy," declared Post. "We broke down about nine times between here and New Haven, and we had to discharge and reload that infernal cargo of camp equipment every time it happened. On the grounds that I had induced him to buy the machine and only partly taught him how to run it, he made me make all the repairs, and when, as per agreement, I tried to leave the outfit at New Haven, he said things about ingratitude and the duties of loyal friendship that got on my nerves. That is the reason I went as far as Boston with him and worked my way harder than any muleteer president ever worked his passage punching up the motive power of an Ohio canalboat. And at the last he reviled me, because I insisted on going back to town and would not go on as far as Concord. I tried to get him to put the machine on a boat at Boston and go on up to Buckport, but he would not to it—a case of one of those infant geniuses in the gentle art of automobiling who rush in where prise chauffeurs are afraid to 'chauff."

The Irishman was accustomed to stop in a cigar store on Broadway every morning on his way to work and light his stubby clay pipe. Instead of using the cigar lighter at the front of the store he would brush by all patrons, stepping on their toes and otherwise making himself objectionable as he walked to the extreme rear of the store to light his pipe. He persisted in this until the proprietor finally asked him:

"There was a time when Stuart Robson was very particular about seeing his name correctly spelled in print," says William H. Crane. "He used to find his name spelled in all kinds of ways, and it used to make him a bit angry. We were on our way to San Francisco in the days when the trip meant something. It was before the era of fast trains, dining cars and luxurious travel. When the through trains reached a certain point an agent used to come aboard, get the names of the passengers and telegraph them to the 'Frisco papers. When the agent came to 'Rob' and asked his name the latter paused a moment. 'Allow me, please,' he said; I will write it down for you.' In a large, plain hand he wrote 'Stewart Robertson.' They would get it that way anyhow,' he said to me, and chuckled. As we were getting on the boat at Oakland that ferries you to 'Frisco, we had an opportunity of getting the daily papers. Soon I saw a look of astonishment on 'Rob's' face. 'Crane,' he exclaimed, shrilly, 'look! How under the sun did they do it? There was his name in the list of travelers spelled correctly. "In a litle country town in the far west is a quaint old character named Obadiah," said Harry Bulger of Henry W. Savage's Woodland Co., recently, who at one time gained the admiration of his fellow townsmen by saving an excursion train loaded with massengers, which came very near being precipitated over a high treatle, and would have been but through the heroism of Obadiah, who, at the peril of his life, flagged the train and saved all the pleasure seekers. The grateful excursionists made up a purse and turned it over to the postmaster of the village with instructions to buy the hero something suitable that would commemorate his brave act. Obadiah had posed, and rightfully, too, as a sort of wise man and weather prophet for many years in the hamlet, and the citizens thought it a propitious time to show their appreciation of him, so they added to the collection of the excursionists until a real neat sum was accumulated, and sent to New York and got the best watch that money could buy. A committee was appointed and called on Obadiah to make the presentation. The spokesman with a grave bow said:

CHICAGO'S RIALTO

Samuel P. Gerson, manager of the Garrick Theatre, Chicago, is of the opinion that Chicago ought to have a Rialto, and the name has been applied to Randolph street.

We hear the tread of buskined feet, In cap and bells that come along; A changing group in Randolph street, A roistering and riant throng. In tragic mien or comic guise, With lifted or with downcast eyes They leare their masks of youth or age, The mimicry of mumning stage And tread a measure fast or slow Between the changes of the show.

They mingle in the whirl of strife
Along that turmoil-haunted way,
And act their acts in scenes of life
The gods have given them to play.
The man who makes his thousands laugh
Is there a cynic and to scoff,
And he who plays a tragic part
Is full of mirth and light of heart;
And she whose youth man the stage And she whose youth upon the stage Is fair and sweet is scrawled with age.

And so they come and so they go,
With dancing or with lagging feet:
Between the changes of the show,
A radiand throng in Randolph street.
And king and crown and potentate
Leave rags or glided throne of state
And walk the street from day to day,
All actors play in that vaster play—
The tragedy of fleeting breath
Which has a curtain men call death.

THE STROLLER

HILE musical comedy and HILE musical comedy and extravaganza are becoming less popular in the big cities the avidity for this class of attraction in the provinces is still growing more intense. The truth of this assertion is substantiated by the fact that Stair and Havlin held their dramatic attractions till the time demanded for musical shows was filled, as was stated exclusively in The Billboard several weeks ago. As a result as was stated exclusively in The Billboard several weeks ago. As a result most of the houses booked by Stair and Havlin will play musical comedy three out of every four weeks the coming season. This is true, furthermore, of the small, independent theatres throughout the country. Of course, the magnificent spectacles put on at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York, and by Thompson & Dundy, at the Hippodrome, are well patronized. Their quality insures this. But the cheaper class of musical shows is palling on the people in the metropolitan districts. What will take their place?

Short skirts win and the "tutu" triumphs. After weighing its decision for a week, in the case between Mile. Eva Sarcy and Mm. Isola, the Paris court has found that the lady, having been engaged as a star dancer, was justified in refusing to appear in any dress but the traditional flesh tights and brief, much-flounced petticoats of the prima ballerina. The court laid down that the one essential point to be considered in the case was the fact that the "tu-tu" is the traditional attire of the star dancer, and on that sole ground awarded Mlle. Sarcy the dama-ges claimed by her, plus interest.

At a London theatre where a musical play is in progress, the orchestrians have hit upon a plan for counteracting the ennue of the long periods during which it is kept idle by introducing sets of miniature chessboards. In the working out of knotty problems with midget men the musicians amuse themselves until the warning tap of the conductor's baton arouses them to the business of the stage. At an ordinary play the work of the orchestra is usually confined to the performance of the music in the entr'actes; but the necessities of the more modern form of entertainment keep them in their seats for hours together. The miniature chessboard comes as an inspiration.

In North Dorsetshire, close to the borders of Somerset, is the little town of Sherborne, whose annals run back longer than those of England. Of this hoary antiquity the people of Sherborne are justly proud, and for the first four days of the present week they are in a most praiseworthy manner celebrating by a stately, historic pagent, the event, in which, during twelve centuries, Sherborne has borne its part. The pageant consists of twelve tableaux, enacted in the open air in front of the ruins of an old castle standing in one of the most beautiful parks in the west of England. A splendid theatre it is for such a show, with grey old walls, spreading trees, clinging ivy, fresh green turf. Here Monday's performance was witnessed by over 6,000 interested spectators, outnumbering, in fact, the population of the antique township. In all there are between seven and eight hundred performers, and they act and speak in a manner that vouches admirable train-

After the performance of the Bar-num & Bailey Show at Ft. Wayne, Ind., recently, the employes of the show carried away as trophies of their visit seven slippers nailed to one of the center poles. The slippers, once dainty and white, hugged the feet of four women who attended the show, but were left sticking in the mud when the owners started for home after the per-formance. Heavy rain fell while the show was in progress, and the grounds became a sea of mud. In consequence thousands of women in cool summer attire were forced to wade through mud and water in the dark relieved only and water in the dark, relieved only by the flashes of lightning. Slippers were hard to keep on and many persons were drenched to the skin. Congressman Gilbert had tipped a boy fifty cents to bring him a cab, in which to escort an Anderson woman home, but before he could reach it, it was but before he could reach it, it was seized by two desperate couple, who refused to get out without a fight, and the congressman had to wade to the street car line to reach the city.

A well-known New York manager who recently returned from France remarked through the public prints:

"It's the same old story in France; there will never be any change there. The sex question is the only important thing dramatically. In England I noticed a marked change, due largely to the influence of J. M. Barrie. His new play, Peter Pan, is one of the most delightful things that I have ever seen. It will make a sensation in this country. Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire is also attractive. The English people are beginning to care more for the poetic drama. I do not mean by this plays in blank verse, but the dainty, poetic influences in life are finding their way more frequently to stage use than heretofore. ### VAUDEVILLE IN THE WEST

Ricardo, the man of mystery, writes the western vaudeville situation as

Butte, Mont., June 23, 1905. Editor The Billboard,

Dear Sir: Will say that I have just returned to Butte and feel that I can give the true state of affairs that now exist in vaude-ville circles in the west. In the first place you start for the west with a one-sided contract (in favor of the association) that makes you think you are safe. The association will advance transportation, which every performer naturally accepts. The performer is then in debt to them for this amount, which they take out of the first week's salary. So they have you the first deal out of the pack. When you arrive they say to you that if you need anything at all they will advance you money. Now that all sounds good, and the offer is O. K. They will let you have what you want. But also remember that it is, moreover, an offer to find out your finances. If you need money that is the start of the finish. The first proposition that is laid before you is in a confidential taik. They remind you of the fact that the association is to give you will the proposition that is laid before you are not one with a plan in which you can be better. He will say: Now we have two or three didlars jump and you will find living cheap. Now if you care to and will reduce your salary a little I will try to fix it for you, and it wont interfere with your other contracts. This extra work is like finding it. This all sounds good, and nine out of ten accept it, which breaks your one-sided contract and lets them know the position you are in, and that you will stand for a cut. You now see where you are. If you refuse this offer they will give you a $il or $il or $il or you, will surely stay the time limit on the coast then, as you will now one to terms before long you will be side-tracked, and then there is nothing to dobut hop-soctch around, and you will surely stay the time limit on the coast then, as you will now of the profession except on the quiet.

I do not want the readers to think that I went you will say that you will find that it is so worded that they can give as many as they like and you have you will get to both the was a head and two or and the sides are lift was a head; if you don't deliver them something freel and good they hand you all that is coming freel and a little doot. I saw some good ones get it. I wonder if any ou little was a head; if you don't deliver them something freel and you can reach out and shake heads with the audience in the center of the house. That is the kind of places from which you must deliver the goods. I saw acrobate work when their pad reached from the footlights to the rear wall, and the ends were five feet high on the wall on both sides of the stage, and that is that although it reads twelve consecutive weeks, way down in it, if you look it up, you will find a little clause that says that the association has the right during you engagement, at any time, to lay you of, but only for a week at a time. You see what that weens, that they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and then they can keep that up until you are broke and the means, that they can keep that up until you are broke and the was a search and a little to the can be a search and the part of the was a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be a search and a little to the can be

tell you what they will give you, and when and where you will work. You are then a good old has-been, and your only consolation is that you are not the only one as you can look around you and see many a good act in the same boat as yourself.

Some people will tell yon, "Oh, that is on So-and-So Circuit. If you go on this other one you will be 0. K." But don't you believe it, each and every one, all are alike in the west. They haven't enough acts to go around, and they offer big money to get you there, and then do all they can to get you broke so they can keep you there. These people are not fools, They are wise and sharp men and up to date. They are posted as to eastern salaries for single and doubles. Now when they get you to working out there for the park salaries in the east, why then they keep you going pretty well. So there is the difference. In the east it is short jumps, cheap living and two a day, Out west it is bigger jumps, living high, fire to fifteen a day and about the same salary. So you see it is up to you.

Some of my readers may think that I am a sorehead, and had it handed to me, so I wish to state right here that it is not so. I am a nosey person in a way, and hearing so much about this western situation, made up my mind to try it out and investigate it. Being overy sick all last winter I figured that it would do my health some good. So you see that I am not writing this with any ill feeling. I only wish to tell the true state of affairs as I found them, hoping that it will save some poor fellows from getting what they surely will get if they go west looking for a pudding. Now, in conclusion, I want to say, just as a warning, that this trip cost me, to get the information I am glving you, in cool cash $335. So, now, if you have the cash, and are an you will have the same story to tell when you get back. Now for a finish I want to state that, having the ready cash with me, just as soon as I got introduced to all the in's and came back to God's country and to stay.

I am not able to tell my readers how sorry I am for the poor fellows I met out there that are up against it, and there are hundreds that I never met. I met enough to be initiated into how they live. Yours professionally, RICARDO (The Man of Mystery.)

CINCINATI.—The effects of the recent combination of independent forces in New York have reached the Queen City, and whether or not Cincinnati will have an independent theatre this coming season is widely discussed in theatrical and financial circles. A representative of the Shubert forces has just left the city under a promise to return inside of tendays and make more definite arrangements looking toward the establishment of an independent bouse in this city. It has been whispered for some time that the Shubert Brothers desired a theatre in Cincinnati, but the projectors have become bolder and no attempt is made toward a concealment of the facts. Letters to financial people have met with responses of approval, and it looks as if there was soon going to be somthing doing.

become bolder and no attempt is made toward a concealment of the facts. Letters to financial people have met with responses of approval, and it looks as if there was soon going to be somthing doing.

The "lee cream" proposition at the Lagoon has assumed more serious aspects. Mr. Chas. Suslow has instituted suit against the company for $5.000 in damages. He has the ice cream privileges at the resort and claims that L. Okinako, proprietor of Fair Japan, in selling what the Jap calls "tea sherbet" is infringing on his rights. An injunction was obtained by Suslow against the company and Okinako restraining them from selling the refreshing delicacles. However, the company did not see things that way and continued to sell the article at Fair Japan. Suit was brought in the Federal Court, Mr. Suslow being a non-resident of Kentucky. It will be tried shortly at Maysville, Ky.

Elsa Ferrand, formerly leading lady of the German Theatre Co. of this city, is dead in Germany. Fourteen years ago Miss Ferrand came to this country as a leading lady, and was for four years at the head of the local German Co. under the Sawirschina management. She won the highest respect of the German theatregoers of this city and married Mr. C. O. Gansel, an insurance man, who died two years ago. Mrs. Gansel left her home in Clifton last September for a year's visit to her sister in Charlottenburg. Germany. She leaves no relatives in this country as far as is known. She will evidently be builed by her relatives in Charlottenburg. Business the past week at the resorts has outdone all records. The amusement managers did justice to themselves in giving to patrons the very best there was to be had in the vaudeville line. There were no accidents or mishaps generally attendant upon Fourth of July celebrations, and the week went off smoothly. If anybody ever scored a bigger hit at the Lagoon than did Wells and Grey the past week it is not on record. The large and commodions amphitheatre fairly danced with the much described by the conditions in magic; M a thousand of the poor and destitute of Cincinnati were given a free ride to the popular resort. The week of July 4, 1905, will remain in the history of Coney as one of her very best weeks.

chester has been right up with the goods all week. The Lady Slavey, on the operatic stage, brought out thousands to witness the new musical comedy company which is scoring such a success. 1492 will be presented next week. On the free vaudeville stage were the much-heralded Lockart elephants, which proved to be all that the advance notices claimed for them. Japanese fireworks by day and the regular old American display of pyrotechnics by night was a big drawing feature. Everybody likes fireworks and they always go where they can see them, hence Chester was crowded all week, for Manager Martin's liberality almost got away with him this week. He had fireworks every night. rks every night.

One of the most important programs ever played in Cincinnati has been put on by Duss and his strong organization at the Zoo this week. Manager J. S. Duss is very popular in Cincinnati, and the audiences at the Zoo whis week have been astonishingly large. The Zoo amply provided entertainment aside from the above attraction for there were fireworks and other features which scored heavily.

Governor John F. Robinson, the veteran show-nan, is ill at his home in Terrace Park, near linelmant, suffering from a complication of liseases due to an attack of acute indigestion. However, be is now improving and there is no loubt but what he will be out again in a few lays.

Word has just been received announcing the death of Mr. Harris, of the vaudeville team of Harris and Davis, in Pocatello, Idaho. His death was due to typhoid fever. In private life these people were known as Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hunsche, and their home was in Cincinnati. They were considered very clever performers, doing a gun spinning and high balancing act. They have appeared many times on the bills in both People's and Columbia theatres, and were well known locally. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Saturday, July 15, 1905.

There have been Shubert-Fiske-Belasco some interest-ing developments in theatrical con-ditions during the week, and while in-terest centers in the situation in New Shubert-Finke-Belasco York, the effect far transcends any local limits, notwithstanding that locality is the largest city in the United States and the most important theatrcal nucleus in the world. It has not been explained whether Abraham Erlanger's testimony in the trial of a suit brought recently in New York by David Belascon for the extensible surpose of previous co for the ostensible purpose of prov-ing that the firm of Klaw & Erlanger were silent partners with Joseph were silent partners with Joseph Brooks in the direction of David Warfield's tour in The Auctioneer, suggested the project, but it is now a matter of official record that the Shubert Brothers, Harrison Grey Fiske and David Belasco have contracted an alliance to thers, Harrison Grey Fiske and David Belasco have contracted an alliance to book their attractions independent of the syndicate which Klaw & Erlanger represent as booking managers. The actual purpose of the suit was to prove through the courts that the theatrical syndicate is a monopoly which controls the first-class theatres of the country to such an extent that its discrimination against a producing manager of first-class attractions renders it impossible for him to secure desirable and paying engagements. During the course of his cross examination Mr. Erlanger was asked if he could book an attraction outside the houses controlled by his own firm, and he forthwith laid out a route of independent theatres, albeit the distances between some of the stands were urged upon the court by the plaintiff's counsel as so great as to render an undertaking of the outlined tour preposterous. Although the indee has not yet promulgated his findlined tour preposterous. Although lined tour preposterous. Although the judge has not yet promulgated his finding on the evidence introduced, the new alliance of independent managers have announced that they will be able, with the houses now under their control and which they anticipate obtaining to book their attractions conveniently

The Shibboleth While there seems mpetition Not War to be a disposition the part of Mr. Belasco to give the impression that the new alout the impression that the new alliance has been formed for the purpose of exterminating the old syndicate the other parties to the agreement are more conservative in their prospectus of the aims and purposes of the three-cornered combination. Both Lee Shubert and Mr. Fiske have stated that their object is merely to "conserve a community of interests" through the usual means of competition. In other words their attitude will be defensive and not aggressive. The Shubert Brothers make no secret of their efforts to increase their holdings in the way of theatres. Several weeks ago they sent out letters to newspapers and real estate men in all the cities where they desired to take over the leases of theatres or to interest capitalists in the project of constructing houses. Their representatives are also visiting the towns where immediate necessity demands that they secure theatres, only through the addition of which to the chain already controlled by them can the intervening distances be made consistent with the expense of transportation. Already several theatres that will be effective in breaking the "long jumps" have been secured and the enterprise of the Alliance is meeting with gratifying success: whether they will book attracted. secured and the enterprise of the Alliance is meeting with gratifying success; whether they will book attractions other than those under their immediate control has not been given out, though it is hardly probable that they will attempt to launch a sufficient number of their own productions to fill the time they will have when all the houses now in prospect have been made a part of their list.

Attitude of the The original syndicate old Syndicate that which is made up of Charles Frohman, Al. Hayman, Klaw & Erlanger and Nixon & Zimmerman—is regarding the movements of the is regarding the movements of its young rival with the greatest outward complacency. Of course their real plan of campaign is not overt, but the fact remains that the members of the Syndicate (as distinguished from the Alliance) have taken no decisive action. dicate (as distinguished from the Alliance) have taken no decisive action toward checking the growth of the Messrs. Shubert, and each party has stated that there is ample room for the other. The fact that Henry W. Savage's name is not identified with the Alliance raises the assumption that he will continue to book his attractions in the Syndicate houses, though at one time he was hailed as the most formidable of the younger generation of managers from the Syndicate's point of view; and as the Alliance, for the present at least, will devote itself to the handling of attractions of the first class, there would seem to be nothing in the prospect to precipitate Stair &
Havlin into a state of consternation.
Perhaps their agreement with the Syndicate will be extended to include the dicate will be extended to include the Alliance.

Conditions and Prospects There ought to be room for both the syndicate and the Alliance. The the syndicate and the Alliance. The theatrical business in America is growing as rapidly as the country itself. The competition on the other hand is bound to be of the liveliest character. It will extend all the way from the securing of actors to the drawing of patronage. One result seems inevitable—an advance in the salary of the popular players, the competing of the popular players, the competing of regards. able—an advance in the salary of the popular players; the competing organizations will bid for their services, and, all prejudice aside, they can demand a higher compensation. Another outgrowth of the new order will constitute a material increment in the number of a material increment in the number of actors employed in first-class companies. The developments of the week are of the highest importance, not so much because of any immediate effect as for what the future must bring. Both organizations ought to live and prosper; the amusement resources of our country will warrant that.

Chicago Hippodrome— As predicted in Thompson & Dundy's Plans these columns several weeks ago, even in face of official contradictions, so-called, Thompson & Dundy will build and operate a hippodrome in Chicago. Frederic Thompson returned from an automobile trip through Europe last week and immediately gave an interview to the press through his personal representative, W. C. Thompson, in which the plans for C. Thompson, in which the plans for the future conduct of the Thompson & the future conduct of the Thompson & Dundy affairs were outlined in detail. The New York house will open in the fall with the same general attraction that has just closed there, the vaudeville features being changed from time to time as politics and necessity shall dictate. Meanwhile, the Chicago house will be constructed, and, upon its completion the New York attraction will be transferred there intact, while the new spectacle and ballet, built and rehearsed in the meantime, will be installed in the New York Hippodrome. It is a bold project, and one of which only enterprise and resource-fulness like that possessed by Thomp-son and Dundy is capable of conceiving. Only the highest quality of success can be foretold of its execution, for the projectors have demonstrated what they can do in the way of hippodromes.

Ticket Speculators and The means adopted New York Hippodrome by George Kings-bury, manager of the New York Hippodrome, to protect the patrons of that institution from the extortions of ticket speculators would not be practicable in a contingency when all the tickets have been sold from the rack in the box office; but his plan was very efficacious in accomplishing the purposes he set omce; but his plan was very efficacious in accomplishing the purpose he set for himself—that of preventing the sidewalk venders of the pasteboards from charging advanced prices for seats when they were to be had at the window at the regular rates. It is the custom of speculators to secure tickets for propular attractions and the secure tickets. custom of speculators to secure tickets for popular attractions and stand in front of the playhouses, deluding people into the impression that they hold the only choice seats to be had. Many patrons innocently pay the speculator his price without an inquiry at the office. This was the state of affairs at the Hippodrome when Mr. Kingsbury took his stand on the sidewalk with a bunch of coupons which he sold at the regular prices and the specuwith a bunch of coupons which he sold at the regular prices and the speculators were left with a lot of dead stock on their hands. They forthwith complained to the commissioner that Mr. Kingsbury was speculating in tickets without a license, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Magistrate Mayo before whom Kingsbury was called, dismissed him without an opinion, leaving the issue open whether it is permissible for a theatre to sell tickets on the street, even at the schedule prices, without a speculator's license. The question presents an interesting legal aspect which will probably be argued next season, as Mr. Kingsbury announces that the plan will be prosecuted further in an effort to protect the Hippodrome's patrons. Even if the Hippodrome's patrons. Even if the speculator's license is determined by the courts to be necessary Mr. King-bury's novel method is an exceedingly inexpensive one and should be adopted by all managers who want to eradicate that form of speculation where deception is practiced. Speculators are considered an advertisement in such comparatively dull times, and this view of the managers may contribute to their continuing the practice undisturbed.

San Francisco Douglas Young, who Theatre Investigation was appointed to investigate the difficulties in San Francisco growing out of a refusal on the part of the revenue department to accept licenses from several theatres on the scale that had been in vogue, has revealed some extremely interesting conditions. Mr. Young's report shows that one theatre has been operating under a restaurant license, while three first-class theatres are paying the amount of license fee exacted from houses that put on second-class athouses that put on second-class attraction. The ordinance providing for the graduation of licenses according to seating capacity has been infringed upon in almost every instance, according to Mr. Young, who advises that the offenders be prosecuted, and suggests that the prepogative of locking up everybody connected with such houses, including actors, where and somethy including actors, ushers and scrub-women, be acted upon. The city seems to have the drop on the managers, who are beginning to go down in their pockets and count up the loose change. Serves them right for not getting some of their own men in office

Is the Actor The decision of the Supreme An Artisan Court of New York, up-holding the finding of the lower court in exacting employment bureau licenses from theatrical agents in that state, is an affront to the whole fraternity of actors, stamping them as common, ordinary, everyday workmen who must seek employment through regular licenseed hired-help procuring houses—so says the disreputable agent with a great fear of seeing his license revoked later in the game; for that is what it will mean—a weeding out process, and those agents who carry on a legitimate business along business lines welcome business along business lines welcome the action of the court. The actor and vaudevillian, too, is jubilant; it means protection for him; it imparts to him the assurance that he will be "placed" in good faith. The action puts the dishonest agent under the ban of the law. He must either be good or quit. The actor does not care if they do call him an artisan. That is what they taunted him with when he formed his union. What he wants is lucrative engagements. The art end of it will look after itself.

Burlesque It now appears that Developments both the Eastern and and the Empire Associations are still acquiring theatres. Though the Empire Association has not made a statement this week, the Columbia Association reports having secured leases on the Grand Opera House at Nashville, Tenn.; Auditorium, Memphis; Greenwall, New Orleans; and the Casino, Philadelphia. The last named house was sub-leased to the Columbia people by George Lederer, who has transfered his interests to New York, and the proprietors threaten an injunction on the grounds of violation of the lease if prietors threaten an injunction on the grounds of violation of the lease if burlesque is put on there. The case will certainly go into court. At a meeting last week of the Columbia Association, and its allied interests, it was decided that the shows will not open till the first week in September (labor week), the reason given being that the weather previous to that time is too hot, and that most people spend their vacations in the country during August. It is just possible that the machinery of the Eastern Association will not be ready to start before September, but even at that the promoters have done even at that the promoters have done remarkably well, having accomplished the seemingly impossible. The Em-pire shows will open in August as pire scheduled.

On The Glorious Fourth, Hercules, the young Dane athlete, made his first appearance at Gain Park, North Beach, in his unique Slide For Life, a distance of 600 feet suspended by his teeth from the top of the Chute Search Light Tower to the Chute Lake. A vast throng was present when Hercules first appeared at three o'clock in the afternoon. While Hercules acceded the Chutes, a death silence prevailed. As he adjusted the mouth piece and placed himself in position for his thrilling slide, many anxious and nervous faces could be seen amongst the great throng. Suddenly a shout burst forth, and Hercules could be seen suspended in mid-air travelling at quite a rapid hace. Faster and faster he proceeded, until he was going at a terrific speed, but a few seconds after the start, and, reaching the end of his journey he dropped to the lake twenty feet below. Upon reaching the surface Hercules was greeted with vociferous applause, and wonder was expressed as to his speed, and also the short time in making his descent, which was about twelve seconds. Mr. Brink had been in the profession for forty years, and was well acquainted with Booth, the assassin of Lincoln. When the president was shot on that fateful night Mr. Brink was in the theatre. In fact he had just come from the buffet into the theatre with Booth; but, seeing some friends in the parquet, Brink separated from Booth, who proceeded to the family circle. Mr. Brink was afterwards arrested for complicity in that event, but, after identifying Booth was released. He has since been identified with a number of theatrical ventures. During late years he had been taking life easy, living on a large pension. He was a congenial fellow, and was well-perserved for a man of his age. # H. CONRIED'S INVESTMENTS

News from New York is that Henriech Conried, manager of the Irving Place Theatre, and grand opera impressario, of the Metropolitan Opera House, has purchased the four story and basement house at No. 422 E. Twentieth street, and plans have been filed with the building department for alterations costing $8,000, to fit up as a scenery storeroom and studio for his scenic artists. Mr. Conried bought the building principally as a storeroom for his Irving Place Theatre, because he could not rent a house such as he wanted in that vicinity. Then he decided to equip it as a studio also, where his scenic artists may work. The second floor will be removed and machinery will be installed for the handling of heavy scenery. While Mr. Conried is in Europe perfecting his plans for the coming season of grand opera the stage of the Metropolitan s being overhauled again, electrically. The fact that the scenic effects were not all that could be desired induced Mr. Conried to spend about $30,000 on improved electric equipment, and this is now being installed. Electricity controlled from a single switchboard, it is said, is to operate everything scenically on the stage. News from New York is that Henriech

The engagement of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra at White City solves the question of summer employment for that organization. Col. Cummins' Wild West took nearly top-money July 4, although the fire show came first. Hines, Blake & Willard gave twenty-four shows each in the Temple of Music, and Dog, Pony and Monkey Circus. Leo Reynolds of Whiting, Ind., was killed on the Scenic Raifway Sunday, July 2, and Mrs. Mary Brown of Chicago, was badly injured. Accident was caused by hoodlums, who had been chased away from the grounds by police, and out of revenge threw half a brick on the track, derailing the train. The passengers got in front of another train resulting in an accident. The police ordered the railway closed until a corner's inquest bad been held, which exonerated the White City management. Blanche Vial, in the fire show, was seriously burned July 3 by wind driving the blaze through a window at which she was standing prepared to leap into a life net. Frank Miller was slightly burned at the same time. Sam Oya, with aerial trapeze and art posturing, begins engagement on the open air circus stage July 10.

The Folly Burlesquers offer a change of bill at the Folly Theatre this week. Two lively travesties open and close the show, in which John Burke and John Jess are the principal funnakers. The vandeville bill has Ferry, The Frogman, in a unique act; Americus Comedy Four, Raymond and Tracer in a society sketch, and Barney Feris, Hebrew comedian. A new series of living pictures are shown.

Buster Brown begins the seventh week at the Great Northern with no diminustion of interest on the part of the playgoers or any decrease in the size of the audience. This attraction has held its own with the other newer musical comedies of the season, and is considered one of the most amusing of the lot. The stock company is proving popu-

SELLS ON HAGENBECK'S

William Sells, who recently sold out his interest in the Sells and Downs Shows, in order to devote his entire interest to his oil holdings in Texas, writes as follows from Topeka, Kan., regarding the Hagenbeck Show regarding the Hagenbeck Show.

I was in Kansas City the other day to see the Hagenbeck Trained Animal Show. By the way, Mr. Lee Williams is a cracking good manager. In fact I was surprised to see such an aggregation. It was the best show I have looked at in my entire career in the show business. They have a lot of up-to-date novel ideas. Mr. Williams is in a class of his own. I was very much pleased with the manner in which he has organized the Hagenbeck Show. pleased with the manner in which he has organized the Hagenbeck Show. The entire property is certainly the best in the business, as you will remember the wagons and dens were all built by Mr. Bodle of Cincinnati, the champion Mr. Bodie of Cincinnati, the champion circus wagon builder of America. The cars were all brand new, and the stock fine. The performance certainly was a novelty, as it is entirely different from the regular old time circus performance and had no hippodrome race, as all shows are using the hippodrome acts, which have been before the public since the time of Nero. I certainly consider it a chestnut in the show business. There is nothing old around the Hagenit a chestnut in the show business. There is nothing old around the Hagenbeck Show. Circuses will not have an easy time of it chasing them out of their territory, as it would be impossible to keep this show from making money, with the weather permitting.

I am out of the show business myself and probably will never be in it again, but this certainly gave me the fever. The band is the best one I ever head under a tent. The side show is a novelty; sometihing entirly different from old time shows that are now used with circuses. I do not know of anything more I can say about the Hagenbeck Show; but it is the best ever. I might also say that their printing is about the finest on the road. The show was well advertised and well managed ahead. Mr. Ferguson, the general agent, certainly had Kansas City lit up. In fact, Kansas City was billed better than I have ever seen it. The show played to immense business in Kansas City July 4th. They gave three performances and the tent was packed. On July 3d they had the tent packed in the afternoon and night, with Barnum paper on them. The show packed. On July 3d they had the tent packed in the afternoon and night, with Barnum paper on them. The show gave great satisfaction, and that is what makes the money in the show

GOVERNOR VISITS SHOW

Governor Folk of Missouri paid the Hagenbeck Show a very high honor during its engagement at Sprinfield, Mo., July 6, by ordering special seats held for himself and a party of friends. The seats were occupied by Governor Folk and his party, who remained until the entire performance was over. The governor expressed himself as highly pleased with the performance, and congratulated Messrs. Tate and Williams on their splendid organizaand congratulated Messrs. Owing to a broken truck the Wm. P. Hall Shows did not reach Carrollton. Mo., from Atchison, Kan., until after 12 o'clock. The parade was given at 4 p. m., and the afternoon performance began an hour later. During the evening performance it rained. Notes from the James Shelby Shows Notes from the James Shelby Shows: We are now entering our twenty-fifth week of the season and are in Alabama. Notwithstanding the fact that the farmers have all been busy, we have had but one losing week. We are now working up toward the mountains. Last week we played to the banner week of the season. Everybody with the show is well. We look for good būsiness from now on. We are using plenty of good paper.

Henry Fisher, one of the employes of the John Robinson Show, was killed during the engagement at Gouverneur. N. Y. During the evening performance Fisher crawled under one of the heavy wagons and fell asleep. At the close of the performance the driver hitched the horses to the wagon, and, ignorant of the presence of Fisher, drove off. The wheels passed over the unfortunate man's breast and left arm, crushing the former and breaking the latter in two places. Fisher was picked up and taken to the hospital, where he died in a few minutes. His remains were shipped to Cincinnati, his loome, July 1.

Notes from Col. W. J. Uden's Wild West: We continue to turn away business daily, enjoying the best of health and prospects. Had quite an exciting, though not serious, accident at Alta. Peter F. Dailey, the comedian, and some of his associates often meet for social intercourse after performances. On one occasion Hall Caine, the novelist, was their guest Mr. Caine had been previously informed that he would encounter a party eminently Bohemian in spirit, and was not prepared for the learned discussion wherein he found himself a deeply interested, if somewhat puzzled listener; now and then he detected certain irrelevancies, he thought, but the perpetrator seemed so solemn that it passed for ordinary comment.

then he detected certain irrelevancies, he thought, but the perpetrator seemed so solemn that it passed for ordinary comment.

"It seems to me, by the way, that only one man has any right to criticise a theatrical performance. Make it two, by a long stretch. The professional critic is not one of them; neither is the man who pays at the door, because he rarely knows what he is talking about. The actor and the author alone are qualified—but even the author should be omitted. Consider what the author has written—for instance, the threadbare conversation about the chicken crossing the road. 'A chicken,' wrote the author, 'crosses the road in order to get on the other side.' What sort of dialogue is that? How can a chicken reach the other side of the road is the side he has just left? Obviously the author was stupid. A chicken crosses the road in order to remain on the same side. No, the author is out of it—only an actor has any right to criticise a show."

Mr. Caine, in the midst of profound silence,

Mr. Calne, in the midst of profound silence, suddenly laughed explosively. They stared and he laughed the more; they gased at him inquiringly, expressionless as marble. One by one, as if dumbfounded, they left the table.

Mr. Dally was the last to go. Pausing, he looked back at Mr. Caine, who remained helpless at the table, laughing so intensely as scarcely to utter a sound.

"And that," exclaimed the comedian, loudly, and with scorn, "is an author!"—Success Magazine.

by the use of a segmental shutter revolving dighteen times per second between the light and the objectional or projecting lens, back of which the pictures pass through a framing device."

What puzzles an audience most are the mys crious subjects. With all a person's knowledge terious subjects. With all a person's knowledge of prestidigitation it is hard to comprehend the weird and wonderful effects created in animated photography. How a person can jump into the air and totally disappear in an instant into the air and totally disappear in an instant and re-appear in the same mysterious manner. This is accomplished by stopping and steering the camera at different periods, and then blend-ing the negatives so the 'break' is not percep-tible to the eye as the positive is projected upon the screen. More mystlfying than this is the picture that shows everything working rethe picture that shows everything working reversed, like a hodcarrier leaping up backward with a loaded hod following him. This is done by having two cameras taking the scene. In one the negative passes through in its natural course. The other camera is so constructed that the film passes upward and the backward or reverse effect is secured. Like the mysterious subjects the negatives are mortised in such a manner that the reverse movament is the acme of natural perfection. of natural perfection.

The survival of the fittest is an industrial toga that fits well the shoulders of Wm. N. Selig, president of The Selig Polyscope Co. He is a Chicago product, born forty-two years ago within a stone's throw of his present place of business. "Billie," as he is still familiarly called by his friends, attended school until he was thirteen, and during vacations and idle hours he could be found on the shores of Lake Michigan along with his neighborhood chums producing acrobatic stunts. He became so proficient as a contortionist that he ran away from school and joined a circus. He continued as a knight of the white tents for several seasons.

Legerdemain was his next hobby. He mas-tered the art of the magician in short order and, like the star of empire, westward took his flight to play the Pacific coast. He remained there until after the mid-winter fair and operated a wagon show through California, Oregon and Washington. In those days Bert Williams, of Williams & Walker, was a dining car waiter. Williams & Walker, was a dining car waiter. One warm summer day while the Portland 'Frisco special was speeding down through the mountains. Bert passed through the diner with a heavy tray. The windows were all open. The car gave a sudden lurch, Williams lost his equilibrium, and the S. C. dining service lost a load of dishes, for tray and all shot through a core, window. When the train reached Oak. an open window. When the train reached Oakd the great colored comedian lost his job l went with the Selig show. Walker was covered a year later and Selig was their first manager.

Returning to Chicago in 1894, Mr. Selig took up the art of photography, by starting to work in a gallery at the princely sum of five dollars In a gallery at the princely sum of five dollars per week. He had the moving picture bee in his bonnet, and soon perfected a camera for that class of work. He fitted up the space under a stairway in his mother's home for a dark room, and here his first animated expose was developed in 1805. Little by little the business developed and grew until his company now occupies its present location.

The Selig Polyscope Co.'s plant occupies three floors and a basement. The latter is used exclusively for developing and drying negative and positive films. The first floor is occupied by the salesroom offices, exhibition room and shipping department. The second floor is assupping department. The second Boof is as-signed to the manufacturing and printing de-partments and the third floor is a large gallery. It is in the gallery that all of the "interior" moving pictures are made, and with the aid of canvas, a paint brush and a scenic artist, exterior scenes are made so natural that when photographed they look like nature's real article. The plant is furnished with a huge fire-proof vault especially constructed, and it contains over 100,000 feet of valuable negatives of every kind and description; the accumulation of years.

In addition to the manufacture of films, the company makes the polyscope, stereopticons, siides and everything pertaining to an exhibitor's use. Much of the success of the vast business is due to the personality of Mr. Selig himself, and a visit to Chicago would not be complete without a visit to the polyscope plant.

WARREN A. PATRICK.

Contrary to the impression which appears to be held by some persons, the exhibit palaces at the Lewis and Clark Exposition are open free to the public. The fifty cent admission fee includes admission to every building on the Exposition grounds, except, of course, the shows on The Trail. Toilet arrangements are also free. The exhibit buildings are open from eight in the mornings until seven in the evening, except on Sunday, when the Exposition does not open until noon. The Trail attractions are closed on Sunday, but the exhibits may be viewed on that day as on other days.

"Did I ever tell you about the time my uncle played with Fredrick Warde?" said the actor.

said the comedian.

"Well, uncle was a super with Warde, and for drinking too much he got fired. "'You can go,' Warde says, 'at the end of the week.'

That made uncle mad, and he decided to have revenge. So, on his last night, after he had got his salary all right, he went on the stage with an egg in his hand.

"Uncle says he never saw such a surprised look on anyone's face as he saw on Warde's then. His hand closed immediately, and he glanced down at the thing that had been given him. When he found it was an egg he looked more surprised than ever.

The famous Irish Guards Band, Abbey's celebrated picture The Loronation, and the big spectacle, the Fall of Port Arthur, are some of the attractions to be at the Great Canadian Industrial Exhibition which is to be held at Toronto, August 28 to September 9. The great fair is the pride of all Canada, and this year will be greater than ever.

Mr. Geo. Bain, secretary of the Kentucky State Fair Association to be held at Lexington in September, has leased offices in the Phoenix hotel, Lexington, and has installed himself with many stenographers for an active and successful campaign. Mr. Bain is determined to make the third year of the big show a financial success if hard work and energy can accomplish this result.

The fair to be held at Anamosa, Ia., this fall will no doubt be one of the very best events of its kind ever held in that state. The attendance last year on Thursday was 20,000. This year the association will put $2,000 into the races. The concessions have been put down to a very low figure and are selling rapidly. The event will be held August 14-18. Following are the officers recently elected: H. E. Bearn, president; A. U. Matters, secretary; C. L. Miles, treasurer; J. E. Remeley, superintendent of concessions; Wm. # STREET FAIRS CARNIVALS

HAS DISCOVERED A FREAK

While at the recent Baltimore Exposition Mr. W. H. Davis of the Jones-Adams Carnival Co., discovered what he considers to be one of the greatest of human freaks. Concerning his find Mr. Davis writes as follows:

Mr. Davis writes as follows:

It is a man twenty-eight years of age. He stands twenty-six inches high and weighs thirty-six pounds. He has the head of a man and the body of a frog. He hops around and goes through the same antics as does a frog. He has never before been placed on exhibition. I have signed a long contract with him and his parents and will place him on exhibition. For the balance of the season he will remain as the feature of the midway with the Jones-Adams Carnival Co. After the carnival season he will play museums, etc.

FIESTA CARNIVAL CO. CLOSED

Mr. H. L. Leavitt wrtes that the Cali-fornia Fiesta Carnival Co. closed its season at Oakland, Cal., on account of severe rain storms, which continued for several weeks. Mr. Leavitt has gone to Portland, Ore., and will likely become identified with some of the attractions on the Trail.

THE TYPES DID IT

In an advertisement of the Cornucopia Waffle Oven Co., 2702 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo., printed in a recent issue of The Billboard, the types made us state the price at "1.85 per hundred," when it should have been "per case." We make this correction to save our patrons further annoyance and their prospective natrons unnecessary corrections. prospective patrons unnecessary correspondence.

FROM THE SPIELER'S STANDPOINT.

Editor The Billboard

Dear Sir—Permit me to compliment you on the article in the current number of your valuable paper on "Voice Culture for Spielers," as it contains much advice that is good if it were possible to follow it under the existing conditions in the side show business, and I ask your permission to answer it after a fashion, and at the same time state a few facts. I presume the author directed his advice to men who make "Openings" and I will take occasion now to say that a man who can make an "Opening" and "Turn" the people is deserving of much consideration, as he is a good salesman. There are three requisites necessary to a good salesman. First, good address; second, ability to create desire on the part of his audience to invest, and third, the knowledge of the exact time to "Turn."

The first means a pleasing personality, cleanly person and apparrel, and a general appearance of intelligence and gentility.

The creation of desire is accomplished by word painting and a knowledge of the people he is addressing and of what will appeal to them, and to do this he must therefore possess imagination, a knowledge of English and fluency of speech—a convincing enthuslasm that carries with it the impression that he is endeavoring to persuade people for their own good. He must state facts, embellished in such manner that his audience will think that they are doing themselves an injury if they do not go.

The Robinson Amusement Co. has closed with the Board of Trade, Columbus, Ohio, for a carnival and gala week on the streets, beginning September 4.

Con. T. Kennedy, proprietor and general manager of the Greater Parker Amusement Co., on June 15 engaged Mr. E. C. Talbott as general representative of his shows.

Dan R. Robinson has purchased two new cars for the Robinson Amusement Co. They now carry their own diners and sleepers and the train is one of the most handsome in the country.

Notes from the J. Frank Hatch Show: We have purchased two camels from Gentry Brothers. Jack Shields Joined the shows at Eric, Pa. South Sharon, Pa., was the banner stand of the season.

Erie, Fa. South Sharon, Fa., was the banner stand of the season.

The board of directors of the Ak-Sar-Ben Carnival, to be held in Omaha, September 27 to October 7, have engaged Mr. Harold A. Bushea to furnish and take charge of the shows for that event.

The Eagles of Wabash, Ind., have signed the Seeman & Milligan Mardi Gras Co. for week July 31. The carnival will be given in the interest of the new Eagle Theatre, now in course of construction.

for week July 31. The carnival will be given in the interest of the new Eagle Theatre, now in course of construction.

"Doc" White's Snake Show, with the K. G. Barkout Carnival Co., took top money at the Eagles' Street Fair held at Charlerol, Pa., recently. The Bim Boo Family of Five gave exhibitions in this attraction.

It is understood that a number of claims were entered against the Montgomery Carnival Co., at Rock Rapids, Ia., recently, on account of injuries caused by the seats in one of the shows falling to the ground.

Mr. Ira Toube writes that the Great Mundy Shows played to capacity business at Toronto, Can., last week. The company is at Hamilton, Can., this week and indications point to a repetition of the same business.

Our correspondent at Connellsville, Pa., writes: We will have here the week of August 14 the Mundy Shows under the auspices of the Connellsville Military Band. If they put on as good shows as Ferarl Brothers did last season they will carry away barrels of the yellow stuff.

last season they will carry away barrels of the yellow stuff.

Miss Murphy, the educated monkey belonging to Mr. J. T. Porter, manager of the Fire and Flames attraction with the Great Mundy Shows, died July 2 on the train en route from Toronto to Hamilton, Can. She was buried at once after reaching Hamilton. Miss Murphy was well known in the carnival business and was very popular. Mr. Porter as well as his many friends feel very deeply his loss.

Mr. W. H. Morris, of Little Falls, N. Y., writes that they want a carnival company to put on the attraction for the Fireman's Street Fair to be held about the middle of August. The event has always proved a big success.

What a selfish institution is that W. C. T. U. The Eagles of Decatur, Ill., decided to hold a street fair in Decatur, Ill., week of July 25. The W. C. T. U. then decided to hold a convention at Decatur, and at the same time, and besides they petitioned the city council asking that the Eagles be denied the use of the streets for that week, claiming that some of its members would be placed in the way of temptation should the carnival be allowed to proceed.

There promises to be a merry legal proceed.

There promises to be a merry legal war between the Hose & Neumann Carnival Co. and the city of Kenton, Ohlo. The company erected its tents upon the streets in accordance with a grant previously received from the mayor. But the business men of that city, doubties less enterprising than some other cities, objected. The mayor, perhaps thinking of political laurels, revoked the grant. Members of the company were then arrested for illegally using the streets. They promise to retaliate by suing for damages.

streets. They promise to retainte by soing for damages.

Notes from the Bauscher Carnival Co.: We did some of the best business of the season at Virden, Ill. Our Dreamland show always gets the money, but the Palace of Electricity, with a change of program every day, always gets in the lead. Prof. Crouch surely gets the natives with his announcements. Billie Merriam, the aerial wonder, brings them to terms. All in all we are enjoying a prosperous season. We have nine pay attractions, three free acts, a band of ten pleces and twenty concessions. Everybody has a pocket full of money.

Notes from the European Amusement concessions. Everybody has a pocket full of money.

Notes from the European Amusement Co.: We are now in our fifth week, and considering the fact that the company has each week had to contend with hard rains, the management feels quite elated over the business so far. While playing Rock Rapids, Ia., a section of the seats in the Hindoo Mystery collapsed and injured several people. They were sent to the hospital and arrangements were made for their treatment by the management. We left the city with congratulations and best wishes of the citizens. This week we are playing Pipestone, Minn., to good business.

Mr. Walter L. Lyons writes that he is still with the Lewis old Plantation Co., which he says is doing good business in Michigan. Mr. Lewis has recently added to his show Mile. Essie, the black nightingale, in illustrated songs. A Trip to Africa has also been added. Everything with the show is crisp, new and clean. Following is the roster Fred Lewis. manager: Chas. Beecham, Walter S. Lyons, and Mose Watkins, comedians; Mile. # OXFORD GIRLS

The above picture, taken especially for The Billboard, represents The Oxford Girls, one of the big features of the famous Robinson Amusement Co. Its owners, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hawes, have spared neither expense nor time in making it a feature. The eight young ladies, clad in raiment of costly texture, do drills, songs, dances and vauderille specialties which take well. The stage settings are beautiful. Reading from left to right the above young ladies are Mildred McDonald, Pearl Moore, Violet Dales Evelyn M. Harwood, Lillian Wolf, Georgia Ray, Myrtle May and Vivian LaMar.

Thirdly; the exact time to make the turn is very important as that is where the box office does business and must be carefully figured out. The talker who talks too long, tree his auditors and the one who don't talk enough has not convinced them. The exact time is most important.

and the one who don't talk enough has not convinced them. The exact time is most important.

These requisites possessed, should make a man worth a good salary to a manager. A mercantile house will pay such a man $25 a week and allow all of his expenses in the best hotels in the ecuntry. But what will most managers pay? Do managers appreciate such a man and pay him? I say "No."

They spend a large amount of money in "framing up" and put any one at all on the front as long as he can say "All ready." "Going on all the time." "No waits or no delays." "Go any time, stay as long as you like," and similar set phrases — are the stock in trade of the ordinary "Grinder," and pay accordingly. They have no idea of grade. They have a "Limit," and find someone to fit it.

Why do some salesmen receive more salary than others? It is because they sell more goods than the other fellow, and why should a manager of a show—who is a merchant, as he has something to sell—set down a hard and fast rule? Once there was a theatrical manager who had a uniform salary for every member of his companies, from "Props" to "Her Ladyship." He has found out that it was not the proper "stunt" and now makes a distinction.

The writer inserted an advertisement in The Billboard last spring, and in reply received offers from eleven managers, and with one exception the salary (or more properly wages) offered was $20 per week or less, for which princely sum he was expected to be responsible for the front of the show, to dress well, "make openings" and "Grind;" to belp set up and tear down, to see the show on and off the lot, to eat

Most carnival managers are "Jippers," and hand it to the poor "sucker" who wears himself out getting the money in the summer. In the winter the "spieler" is a "bum" and eats snowballs or free lunch, while the manager goes to the city and tells what n hardworking season it has been for him.

Billposters

National Alliance Billposters and Billers

HEN THIS issue of The Billboard reaches Montreal the convention of the Associated Billposters and Distributors of the United States and Canada will be in full swing. The fireworks commenced with the meeting of the board of directors on Monday, where things were properly fixed up for presentation at the convention. Bob Campbell chaperoned a large party of western delegates, leaving Chicago by special train over the Grand Trunk on Saturday morning. A special over the C. H. & D. from Cincinnati, with delegates from the south, joined Campbell's train at Port Huron, making a large and interesting party. Most of the billposters are quartered at the Windsor, and all are having the usual good time. The Billboard wishes them a successful meeting.

It has been intimated to The Bill-board that a movement is on foot among the Country Billposters to effect some much-needed changes in the rules of the association. Whether or not they will have the nerve to demand their rights is yet to be determined; but it is, nevertheless, true that they have great cause for vigorous complaint. Unfortunately the Country Billposter seems to lack the necessary nerve to stand up for himself, when he gets to the conto lack the necessary nerve to stand up-for himself when he gets to the con-vention, and unless someone from a big-town would champion his cause it has generally gone by default in the past. Should anything happen this time it will be a great surprise, for the old "gang" is flushed with victory, and in position to resist timost any attempt to change its policy. to change its policy

The conditions which have made the lot of the Country Billposter anything but pleasant are such as can be easily remedied; indeed should be remedied. It has always been the cause of wonder that the conditions complained of were imposed in the first instance. They do not benefit the business in any sense; on the contrary they have resulted in a distinct loss to both billposter and

Take the queston of population of small towns, as printed in the "Big List." The action of the board of directors in decreeing that the figures of the United States census of 1900 should be used has worked an actual hardship for the Country Billposter. At least calculation it has cut his business one-third wthout resulting in any benefit to the advertiser. If anything, it has given the advertiser a wrong steer as to the business possibilities of the smaller cities. It has led him to make a smaller allottment of paper than was actually required with the effect than his work in the small towns has been unproductive—it did not get results.

Undoubtedly the saving of paper on the small towns left more to be given to the large towns, and possibly this was the reason certain members of the oard of directors were so insistent for the adoption of the rule.

The town of Honesdale, Pa., is an example of the evil effects of the census figures. That town is credited with a population of 2,864, while as a matter of fact there are within a half mile radius from the postoffice nearly 10,000 people. Both billiposter and advertiser are entitled to the facts in this case—the billiposter to the increased paper, and the advertiser to a proper showing, which neither get if the census figures are to be followed.

FOR THE COUNTRY BILLPOSTER of that city, and omit the large and important suburban population just over the line.

These facts are well known to every billposter, and all his talk is to show the advertiser the value of reaching the suburbanites, but of what avail are his arguments in the face of the black and white figures of the official "Big List" to the contrary. As a result most of the country billposters have had their usual allottments of paper cut in half since the census figures have prevailed; and in an effort to cover a population of 10,000 with five sheets, the advertiser has been disappointed and given up in disgust. Many towns have suffered only a shortage of paper, but others have lost entire orders by this obnoxious rule.

It was pretended by the board of directors that there was widespread complaint among advertisers that the populations of the "Big List," prior to the change were incorrect and misleading, and that they were induced thereby to allott more paper to small towns than and that the state of the state of the billposters could take care of. Experience proves that advertisers seldom erred on that side; rather, that it was difficult to induce them to put up as difficult to as was actually needed.

As the matter stands the Country Bill-As the matter stands the Country Billposter is getting the worst of the deal and the advertiser is wasting what little paper he puts in a small town, by reason of not having enough. It is up to the Country Billposter to demand a proper revision of the populations as published in the "Big List," in the interest of the business generally.

Another point is the question of dues to the National Association. the action on populations that cut down the revenues of the Country Billposter, the board of directors formulated a resolution and had it adopted at St. Louis (some claim it was not passed) to compel all billposters in towns over 5,000 to join the national body and pay an additional due of at least $10 per year. This was found necessary because of the enormous increase in the expense of running the association under the present regime. Notwithstanding the increase in revenue this rule brought the board of directors were obliged to break into the reserve fund of the association to the extent of over $2,500 to meet pressing liabilities. While Secretary Bernard warned the officers in March that only the strictest econo-my and the collection of all dues would enable the Association to break even at the end of the fiscal year, it is more than likely that the billposters will hear of a deficit at the Montreal meeting.

If the Association is to be continued in the same headlong course by the same officers then there will have to be a slight increase in the dues to furnish the needful. Not a hopeful outlook for anw really progressive measures, such as a "checking system" is there? An increase of dues will not be accepted with good grace by the Country Billposter, and it is very doubtful if such a measure will be approved.

Bob Campbell, who is known to be a strong advocate of retrenchment, will put forward his proposition that all directors be compelled to attend meetings of the board at their own expense, and that there be but one meeting a year. This measure will either do away with the beard as now formed or will confine the board as now formed or will confine it to the big city billposters who have money to spend that way. There will be no place on it for the representatives of the small towns.

Honesdale is an extreme example, with scarcely another parallel, but the actual population in all cities up to those of 100,000 exceeds the census figures from twenty-five to fifty per cent. This is because census figures finclude only that portion of a city's population within the corporate limits members more for the money than the national organization, and wihch really has built up the business to its present proportions, is losing its power and authority until soon it wil be no more than a social club, instead of a trade organization. All will soon be gobbled up by the national association, and that will be absolutely controlled by the half dozen big town billposters. Where, then, will the Country Billposter get off?

Law Department

EDITED BY MAURICE H. ROSENZWEIG.

In this department all legal questions per-taining to domestic relations, wills, contracts, criminal and general theatrical law, will be answered. Communications should be addressed to Law Editor, The Biliboard, 1440 Broadway, New York City, and must bear full names and addresses of inquirers. Names will not be published under any consideration.

(New York law will be given where ques-ons do not specify a particular state.)

I expect to be away from business for about x months and wish my interest in the company is which I am a director to be safeguarded uring my absence. Can I give a proxy to vote the director's meeting for me to my som, who also a director's—F. B. C., New York.

No; directors can not vote by proxy, but must be actually present at the meetings.

Six years ago, without any legal action of any kind, I changed my name. As my mother was divorced when I was very young and remarried, I did not have any relations by the same name as mine, and preferred to take a name selected hapbaxard that I liked. I did not only take this as a stage name, but as my own, discarding my old name entirely. Everyone knowing me to-day believes this to be my real name, with the exception of a very few acquaint-ances, and they call me by the name I have taken. Now the point I am coming to is this: About a year ago I married under the only name that I use. I did not for a moment think that I might be doing wrong by using my adopted name, and besides it seemed to me that marriage was a contract between two persons with witnesses, and it is persons not names that are married. I have been told lately that I did very wrong. I would like your opinion as to the marriage being perfectly legal, as I was married by a minister in the presence of four witnesses.—C. E. H., en route.

Your marriage is absolutely legal and binding. From the facts above stated there do not appear to be any elements of fraud; having done everything in good faith and having no other wife living, your present marris—is binding. I would, however, advise you to take immediate steps to have your chosen name legally confirmed by judicial proceedings, to avoid any future misunderstandings, and to be prepared to meet future exigencles.

I have an act I have played a few times, and people want to copy and use it. How do I patent or copyright the same? How do I go about it to make it safe? What can be done with those copying the same?—Sir Mont, Shawneetown, Ill.

The only way to prevent others from using your play is to have it copyrighted. You will be unable to do so yourself, and I would therefore suggest that you engage an attemet to obtain one for you. A copyright is obtained from the Federal authorities at Washington, and is in force throughout the United States and its colonies. Those violating a copyright can be restrained from doing so by means of an injunction, as well as a sust for damages. If the injunction is ignored by the party violating the copyright, he is guilty of contempt of court and is liable to arrest and imprisonment.

ing the copyright, he is guilty of contempt of court and is liable to arrest and imprisonment.

I have married a man who has lived with a mistress ten years in New York state and he (Mr. G.), has introduced her as his wife. I have had one child by him. He claims never to have married her, but, however, did not get separation papers or divorce; but had an agreement drawn up between her and him by an attorney, and he gave her $5 the day after I married him. She now resides in his house, and is acknowledged as his wife. Am I his legal wife? Can my child claim his property?—Mile. O, Bare D'Abbeville, Somme. France. You do not state sufficient facts to aid me in thoroughly advising you. I do not know the mistress' story. She may be able to establish a common law marriage which would now be binding. I would advise you to communicate with her and ask her to bring suit against your husband (merely as a test) to establish ber status, and have the court decide whether she is his wife or not. In this manner your status is also established. The agreement drawn up between them may throw some light on the subject. My opinion in this case would not help you any, but a decision from court would establish your position to a certainty. If it be established that you are his legal wife your child can claim his property at his death only, not before. My personal opinion is that your marriage is valid for the reason that where there has been a formal marriage (assuming your marriage to have been formally solemised), it cannot ordinarily he impeached and shown to be void by proof of facts from which a prior marriage will not be presumed from acknowledgment and cohabitation, where such presumption is in favor of innocence and marriage. A prior marriage will not be presumed from acknowledgment and cohabitation, where such presumption is in favor of innocence and marriage formally solemined. Although this would seem to place you in the right nosition, nevertheless it does not affect the rights of the mistress fish has any; and this is t marriage is valid is not overcome by mere proof of prior cohabitation and supposed marriage with another woman. The presumption is that the prior supposed marriage is not binding at the time of the second marriage is not binding at the time of the second marriage be brought into court, that you could easily establish your status as that of a legal wife. If his mistress refuses to bring suit as aforesaid, I would advise you to bring proceedings against your husband either for diverce or separation, in which action your position will be established, even if you are not granted a divorce. This action should be brought in New York and upon your return from France, or sooner if you wish, I would advise you to consult a competent attorney with a view towards having this matter judicially decided, either by suit or by submission to court upon an agreed state of facts.

ST. LOUIS.—The week of the Fourth of July topened with only the regular summer garden attractions for auticipation on Independence Day. They opened well in a heavy rainstorm and did a big business. The managers of the various theatres are beginning to get back from their vacations, and things will soon be moving for this week as follows:

Delmar Garden. A Royal Rogue is being put on at Delmar, and it opened big. The cast proved strong in it, and it was well costumed. Stella Tracey, who was last season with The Royal Chef, has made a decided hit; she is as clever as any little actress seen here. Business was good. PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA.—The customary mid-summer-duliness in theatricals is apparent on every side. With only two theatres open one might imagine that there would not be room for those who desire to seek theatrical amusement, but even late comers always get seats at these two houses. The parks had a good Fourth of July but outside of that day business has not been good, and it looks as if the season was going to be a failure.

The burlesque situation in Philadelphia is gradually getting straightened out, but there may be more changes in the near future. George Lederer has withdrawn from the Casino Theatre, and that house will be run by his former partners, Elias and Koenig. They have made a lease with the Columbia Amusement Co. to play the eastern burlesque companies. W. J. Gilmore, the owner of the theatre, claims that this is a violation of the lease, and talks of putting an injunction on the Columbia Co. and the lessees. Whether this will hold good will have to be determined by a court of law. In the meantime the eastern burlesque managers are arranging to play the house. The Lyceum will also be run in connection with the circuit. The Empire Circuit will have two houses here, the Trocadero, to be run under its old management, and the Bijou, to be run under the management of George W. Rife, with Sam M. Dawson as resident manager. Mr. Dawson is already on the lot and has started work in improving the house. The Bijou is the theatre where Keith made a lot of money here, and as it is a beautiful theatre, burlesque attractions should do well there.

Lyceum Theatre. The stock burlesque company continues to do a fair amount of business, and the bouse will keep open as long as it pays.
